Head Lice 101

What You Should Know About Head Lice

Lice Lessons

What if my child gets head lice?

If you suspect your child might have head lice, it's important to talk to a school nurse, pediatrician, or family physician to get appropriate care. There are a number of available treatments, including new prescription treatment options that are safe and do not require nit combing. Other things to consider in selecting and starting treatment include:

- Follow treatment instructions. Using extra amounts or multiple applications of the same medication is not recommended, unless directed by a healthcare professional⁵
- A 2016 study showed that 48 states now have lice that are genetically predisposed to resistance to commonly used treatments⁶
- There is no scientific evidence that home remedies are effective treatments⁷
- Head lice do not infest the house. However, family bed linens and recently used clothes, hats, and towels should be washed in very hot water and dried on the high setting⁵
- Personal articles, such as combs, brushes, and hair clips, should be soaked in very hot water for 5 to 10 minutes if they were exposed to someone with an active head lice infestation⁵
- All household members and other close contacts should be checked, and those with evidence of an active infestation should also be treated at the same time⁵

Myths and facts about head lice

Myth: Only dirty people get head lice.

Fact: Personal hygiene and household or school cleanliness are not factors for infestation. In fact, head lice often infest people with good hygiene and grooming habits.^{3,4}

Myth: Head lice carry diseases.

Fact: Head lice do not spread diseases.¹

Myth: Head lice can be spread by sharing hair brushes, hats, clothes, and other personal items.

Fact: It is uncommon to spread head lice by contact with clothing or other personal items, such as combs, brushes, or hair accessories, that have been in contact with a person with head lice.¹

Myth: Head lice can jump or fly, and can live anywhere.

Fact: Head lice cannot jump or fly, and only move by crawling. It is unlikely to find head lice living on objects like helmets or hats because they have feet that are specifically designed to grasp on to the hair shaft of humans. Additionally, a louse can only live for about a day off the head.¹

Myth: You can use home remedies like mayonnaise to get rid of head lice.

Fact: There is no scientific evidence that home remedies are effective treatments.⁷ Consult your healthcare provider to discuss appropriate treatment options, including prescription products.
